ABOUT COMPASS:

Compass Family Services supports low-income and homeless families with a continuum of services that create lifelong change.

Our six programs help parents stay in a home or find and keep one, gain meaningful employment, and raise physically and emotionally healthy children.

Each year, we empower more than 3,000 of our neighbors to find their way to lasting self-sufficiency. For more information visit www.compass-sf.org.

A 10,000 Diaper Challenge

At Compass, we love a challenge.

Last year 300 families took advantage of the classes, support groups and counseling services at Compass Family Resource Center. In the first six months of 2010/11, we have already served 314 families with more coming through our doors every day.

Without additional funding, however, the CFRC drop-in center that helps families meet some of their most basic needs is feeling the crunch. Infants and toddlers, unfortunately, make up the vast majority of homeless children and we hope that you will help us meet their most basic need - diapers.

Parents of homeless and low-income children are often:

- forced to choose between using limited funds to buy diapers, purchase food or pay rent.
- likely to prolong the period of time between diaper changes to conserve resources leading to higher instances of diaper rash and urinary tract infections.
- hesitant or embarrassed to ask for help. They will keep their children out of daycare when they are not able to provide enough diapers for the day. This breaks important continuity for the children and can endanger a parent's employment or schooling.

Please join our efforts to help our youngest clients to stay happy, healthy and dry!

The details:

- Diapers of all sizes are welcome and we are especially in need of sizes 4 and 5
- Diapers can be ordered online and delivered directly to our offices
- Diapers can be dropped off in person. Please contact us to arrange a time.

The families that we serve are so fortunate to have a community of such dedicated and generous supporters. With your help, San Francisco's most vulnerable children will have the chance to thrive.
